

Written Representation 1

Name: Ong Junkai
Self-employed

Received: 16 Jan 2018

Title: Moderation of animal rights activism in Singapore negatively influencing the development of the pet industry and contributing to discriminatory legislation

Dear Sir,

I have written in extensively in the Straits Times to highlight how the authorities should be made aware that views propagated by certain groups in Singapore are very generalized & extremist in nature. This will not be beneficial to society cohesion in the long term as it is discriminatory and may pave the way towards domestic terrorism.

The legislation and enforcement actions of government authorities should be based on science & rationale and should not be a result of giving in to the emotions of radical groups.

<http://www.straitstimes.com/forum/letters-in-print/curb-radical-animal-rights-activists>

Below is the list of articles I had written in to Straits Times recently, which have illustrated how discriminatory legislation have become due to animal rights extremism.

<http://www.straitstimes.com/forum/letters-in-print/expand-list-of-animals-allowed-as-pets>

<http://www.straitstimes.com/forum/letters-in-print/pets-can-help-improve-understanding-of-wildlife>

Thank you